What We Are Learning

Reading: Students continue their unit with fiction stories. We discussed making connections and finding the message of a story.

Language Arts: We are discussing special rules for writing sentences. Students identified the correct way to write a book title and holidays as well as how to use a comma in a date.

Math: Students worked with place value to the tens and ones.

Science: Students were introduced to Martin Luther King Jr. Each of the students wrote about their dream for our world. This beautiful project will be displayed for Open House!

Religion- We discussed the light God put in us and how we can use it to shine with a career. Students created a wonderful display that will be on our door during Open House.

Notes

I want to share how amazing your children were this week! They were patient and helpful while my voice was absent and slowly recovering. I am very thankful for the kindness they show for those in need.

Have a fantastic weekend!
